

AUDIO TAPE INDEX FORM

Interviewee: Carl Jersild

Interviewer: Dick Koerner

Interview Date: 5-1-07

Summary description of tape contents:

Carl Jersild, interviewed by Dick Koerner, tells of his first and only sturgeon he speared in 19 years. He also praises the DNR for the work in managing the sturgeon population. In addition, Carl also relates a story about being on shifting ice, and another about a friend who videotaped his day sturgeon fishing only to find out, while watching the videotape, that he missed a golden opportunity.

Brief Tape Index

Time	Topic
00:28	Background information on Carl Jersild.
01:32	How Carl started Sturgeon fishing.
02:55	Changes in the sport. Shortened seasons. Sturgeon diet.
03:30	Carl's fishing success and thoughts on sturgeon fishing.
05:18	The first sturgeon Carl ever saw fishing.
06:27	Carl's favorite time to fish: first hour and last hour.
07:30	Story of Carl's first catch.
09:12	Weather story of being on shifting ice.
11:31	Carl's thoughts on coaxers.
11:10	More detail on Carl's first catch.
12:36	Sturgeon eating.
13:45	Friend videotaped himself missing a sturgeon opportunity.
16:52	Club memberships.
17:49	Thoughts on the DNR's sturgeon management.
19:54	Credits Dick Koerner with helping him and making him a better fishermen.
21:09	Sturgeon sighting first night living on Lake Winnebago.
22:33	End of interview.